Describing herself as the first woman campaign manager in the state, Miss Jennie E. Precker is "digging in" today on her new job. She was appointed yesterday to handle the campaign of Mrs. Lillian F. Feickert of Dunellen, candidate for the Republican United States Senate nomination at the May 15 primaries.

Handling a political campaign is a new experience for Miss Precker, a member of the law firm of Precker & Precker, but she believes it should be "a good job for a woman." Persons who have followed state politics here for many years cannot remember any previous occasion in which a woman has been a campaign manager.

"My principal job," Miss Precker said, "will be to make certain voters understand that Mrs. Feickert is not merely the women's candidate. Mrs. Feickert wants, and has a right to expect, the votes of the men just as well as those of the women, since she is running on a platform of strict law enforcement. Men and women both should want the Constitution and laws of this country enforced if they remain on the statute books."

Anti-Saloon League?

Miss Precker had nothing to say about the possible support of the Anti-Saloon League. This question will be discussed at meetings within a few days she said. Rev. Marna S. Poulson state superintendent of the league, has declared the league would not indorse any candidate but that its constituents would be asked to vote for candidates who favored full enforcement of the law.

The new campaign manager has been active "behind the scenes" in politics three years as counsel of the New Jersey Women's Republican Club. She has known Mrs. Feickert intimately several years.

Miss Precker has been practising law six years. She was graduated from Barringer High School, the Newark Normal School and finished her studies at the New Jersey Law School. She still takes extension courses, she said, as she does not want to ever stop studying. She is the organizer of the Susan B. Anthony Building & Loan Association, a women's organization.

Campaign headquarters for Mrs. Feickert will be at 20 Branford place in Miss Precker's law offices. Mrs. J. Burt Hamilton of Jersey City is treasurer of the campaign.

Mrs. Feickert said yesterday she was pleased at the support of the New Jersey Women's Republican Club. Thirty-nine members o fthe executive board are circulating petitions for her name.

Five-year Error Instruments Acknowledged by Woman Lawyer Are Found Illegal

JAN 15 1932

Trenton Bureau, NEWARK NEWS.

TRENTON—Miss Jennie E. Precker of the law firm of Precker & Precker of Newark, through a misunderstanding, has been illegally administering oaths and acknowledging deeds, mortgages and other instruments for five years.

Presuming her admission as counselor carried the right to practise as a master in chancery, she failed to subscribe to the chancery oath. Now, it is stated at the chancery clerk's office, instruments which she acknowledged the last five years are illegal and can be validated only by a legislative act or acts.

These facts were developed, today when Miss Precker applied to Chancellor Walker for admission to practise as a master. The chancellor granted the application but directed that she appear before the clerk and subscribe to the oath.

On the date the counselors were sworn in, Miss Precker was abroad, but upon her return she was sworn in before the Supreme Court, but neglected to subscribe to the chancery oath.
